$20,000 ASKED AS HEART BALM

Charging that she had relied so much on the promise of Fred Perry to make her his bride that she sold her business so as to be ready for the ceremony, but that somehow he had failed to make good his promise, Miss Agnes Butler of Martinez yesterday filed suit at the county seat for $10,000 for alleged breach of promise and an additional $10,000.

Miss Butler claims that Perry promised to marry her on October 8, 1924, and has subsequently refused on two occasions to go through with the ceremony. She states in the suit that she suffered pecuniary loss when she hurriedly disposed of her father's business and further humiliation before her friends, who had been advised of her forthcoming marriage.

WHAT DOES YOUR HUSBAND DO?

Parole Is Promised To Hogan

A "six year term" in San Quentin penitentiary, imposed last November upon Howard Hogan, son of an Oakland millionaire, will end next May, it was learned yesterday from the State board of prison directors. At the end of the term Hogan will have served 18 months in the prison. Hogan was convicted of manslaughter after he had killed George and D. R. Rodriguez, Oakland business men on June 1, 1924, by striking them with his automobile. It was brought out at the trial that the youth was traveling at the rate of 70 miles an hour when the crash occurred and that the two men were carried 240 feet on the fenders and mud guard of the machine before it was brought to a halt.

They died the same night. Hogan was arrested and the patrolmen doing the arresting asserted that he had a drunken appearance. At the time of the trial jail attendants testified that he was sober when he arrived in the jail. He was convicted of manslaughter and Judge Fred V. Wood imposed a sentence of from six to ten years.

Hogan entered San Quentin in November, 1924, and the state board of prison directors met to act on his case on May 23, this year. The result of their deliberations was made known yesterday for the first time.

FAMOUS UNDER COVER AGENTS ARE RELIEVED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—For unrevealed reasons Sid Winkler and John Broska, who entered the prohibition department under the Goff regime, were discharged from service yesterday. With the ousting of these men 700 bootleg cases now pending are apt to be thrown out without hearing, as the agents say they will decline to testify against the defendants.

The agents attribute their dismissal to "political influence and a frameup of bootleg lawyers." Winkler said that he was told his job would not last long when he procured evidence that led to the raiding of the Argonaut hotel several weeks ago.

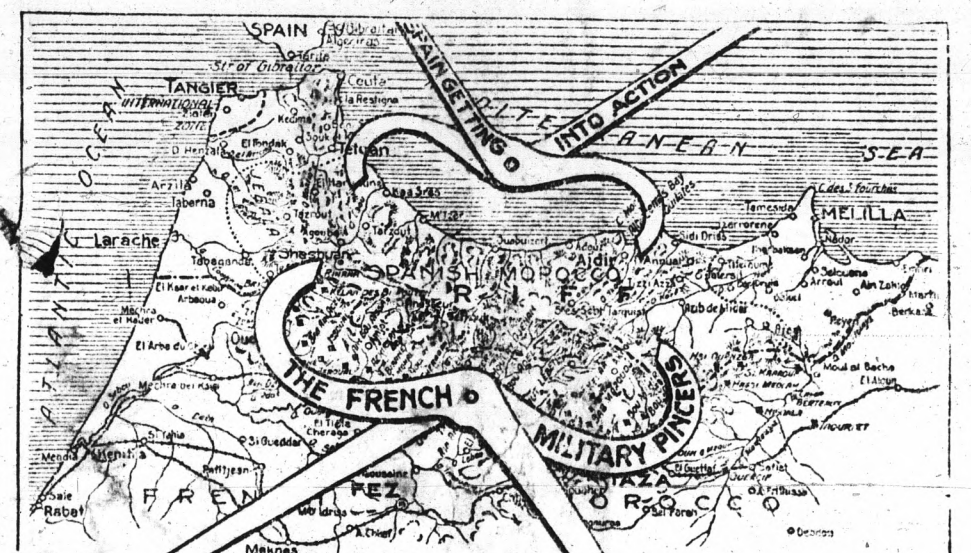

Captain Charles Goff, who personally appointed the two men, said that both were able and had made excellent records and that he could not understand their discharge.

TOY OUTLINES HIGHWAY PLAN

MODESTO, Sept. 19.—H. Toy chairman of the State Highway commission, told several thousand persons at the Stanislaus county fair today that the opening of the Yosemite highway next year is one of the primary aims of the commission. The State highway engineer has been instructed to go ahead with the plans for the building of five bridges necessary to open the highway to traffic when the grading is completed next summer, Toy said.

Five million dollars were expended by the commission for reconstruction of state highways during 1925, Toy stated, and even yet only about half the work recommended has been completed. An equal amount will be available next year to continue the program.

"PINCHERS" OPERATION STARTED AGAINST RIFFIANS BY FRENCH AND SPANISH TO TRAP 60,000 TRIBESMEN

The military term "Pinchers" was frequently used to describe certain strategic movements in the World War. One party, being unable to move ahead at a certain point, would maneuver his flanks towards each other, like the closing of a pair of pincers, and thus encircle the enemy or force him to make a quick retreat. Two pairs of pincers are being operated against Abel el Krim, the Riffian leader in Morocco, one by the Spaniards and one by the French, as shown by the above map. But the Riffian cannot retreat if the movement is successful as they have no place to retreat to.

Veteran Organizations Are Hosts of Hall Committee

Veteran organizations of the city of Richmond proved to be royal hosts last night when they entertained as guests of honor the building committee of the veterans memorial hall in Twelfth street, the city council, city officials and other prominent citizens. Over 100 honored guests and members of the veteran organizations were at the affair.

W. C. Dobler acted as toastmaster. In a short welcoming address he paid high tribute to the work of the building committee, the city council, the board of supervisors and all others who aided in the erection of the memorial. He introduced the speakers of the evening.

Mayor W. W. Scott complimented the veterans on their work. The mayor expressed belief that within the next 35 years the veterans would be taking the most prominent part in decisions on world affairs and urged the organizations to keep building for this goal. Mayor Scott declared that he had visited veteran buildings throughout the country and had found none to surpass that of Richmond. He stated that he was glad to aid the veterans as he had and expressed willingness to do anything possible for them in the future.

City Attorney D. J. Hall averred that the building committee and veterans could well be proud of their accomplishment, a memorial that added unlimited prestige to the city in which it stands. Funds for the upkeep of the building will be forthcoming at the next session of the legislature, in Hall's opinion. This (Continued on Page 2)

EAST SWELTERS UNDER HOT SUN

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Chicago was broiling hot today with the temperature rising as high as 91 degrees. The heat wave extended over most of the east and into the southwest, where the thermometer went over the 100 mark.

While the east suffered with the heat, snow was falling in northwest Montana, according to advices from Great Falls. Three inches of snow fell in Montana, while flurries of snow were reported in Idaho.

INCENDARISM SUSPECTED IN TOKIO FIRES

(By Universal Service)

TOKIO, Sept. 19.—The second Tokyo fire in two days destroyed the home of Prince Iyesato Tekkugaw, president of the House of Peers, tonight. There were no casualties, the prince and his family being away at the time, but the property loss was considerable.

Early yesterday morning the two-story building temporarily housing the Japanese Parliament, was burned to the ground. Because of the two-day succession of fires suspicion of incendiarism is being felt. An investigation is now under way.

CRUELTY CHARGED IN DIVORCE SUIT

(By Universal Service)

SYRACUSE, Sept. 19.—Three worlds' records were smashed today by Charles Seymour of Springfield in the opening day of the national motorcycle championships.

In the five-mile solo event Seymour piloted an Indian motorcycle to a new record of 3 minutes, 42 78-100 seconds. The old record was 3 minutes, 45 seconds, set last year.

Seymour set another record in the ten-mile solo when he drove the distance in 7 minutes, 30 4-100 seconds. He also ran wild in the fifteen-mile event and hung up a record of 11 minutes, 19 61-100 seconds for the distance.

OFFICER WINS PENSION SUIT FOR $22,302

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—James F. Sheehan, former San Francisco policeman, will receive $22,302 in pension money and interest from the city as the result of a final judgment handed down today by the State Supreme Court.

Sheehan was removed from the San Francisco police department in 1904 when he refused to return to active duty after having been retired on a pension as the result of injuries sustained while breaking in a horse for the department. Sheehan claimed that he was in no condition to return to active duty.

The Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the state district court of appeal, which had ruled that Sheehan was never legally removed and should therefore receive $50 a month pension with interest from 1904 to 1925, and thereafter the $50 a month for the remainder of his life, unless legally barred from the department.

The litigation has extended over a period of 21 years. The Supreme Court ruled that police commissioners are without power under the charter to judicially determine the question as to whether or not Sheehan's incapacity had ceased.

A number of successful test flights have been made within the past few weeks by Commander James Strong. The forthcoming test, will be the hardest of all. Strong declared that he would probably try to keep the plane in the air the same length of time he figures it will take to fly to the islands. Further tests will be made in a flight to San Diego. The tentative date for the hop off is early in October.

Boeing Plane To Make Test Flight Monday

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—The big Boeing plane PB-1, which failed to get away with the other two ships on the attempted San Francisco to Hawaii non-stop flight will be subjected to a stiff full load test here Monday, preliminary to a possible lone flight to the island, officials of the navy's non-stop hop announced here today.

A number of successful test flights have been made within the past few weeks by Commander James Strong. The forthcoming test, will be the hardest of all. Strong declared that he would probably try to keep the plane in the air the same length of time he figures it will take to fly to the islands. Further tests will be made in a flight to San Diego. The tentative date for the hop off is early in October.

The couple were married in 1922 and separated last July, according to the complaint. Mrs. Rieck is represented by Pierce and Carlson.

Divorcee Is Defendant In Damage Suit

Charging that Mrs. R. Coit, divorcee of Rodger Coit, millionaire Oakland hotel man rushed to Washington to woo her husband, Mrs. Eva G. Martin of Washington, D. C., has filed a suit for $100,000 for the alleged alienation of the affections of Merton Martin, against Mrs. Coit. Mrs. Martin states that she never will allow her husband a divorce and that she needs the $100,000 asked in the suit in order to support herself. She states that last Monday Martin brought Mrs. Coit to their apartment and asked for his release. He left shortly after that, she states and she does not believe that he will return.

Mrs. Coit counters with the statement that she believed that Mr. and Mrs. Martin were already separated and that she "would not hurt any woman: If I were guilty of alienating his affections, I would give her $100,000—but I am not guilty." Mrs. Coit asserts that Martin has left with her attorneys a signed statement vouching for her innocence.

When Mrs. Coit's divorced husband was questioned regarding the suit he stated, "Mrs. Coit's affairs are not my affairs. She can make love to Martin or anyone else so far as I am concerned."

Tug Sea Lion Fails to Locate Vessel At Late Hour Last Night

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Pounded by raging seas in a heavy storm, the Garland line freighter George Allen, bound from New York to Los Angeles and other Pacific Coast ports, is drifting helplessly, according to radio advices received here tonight.

The Allen, with engines disabled, is powerless to fight the storm. She carries a crew of 40.

The ship was swept 100 miles further south since the first S. O. S. was received yesterday.

The tug Sea Lion, dispatched from San Diego to save the ship and its crew of forty men, had not reached the ship at a late hour tonight.

The George Allen has a general cargo valued at $1,000,000.

The Manchuria, which docked at San Diego late yesterday reported seeing the George Allen flying distress signals. Officers of the Manchuria stated that the sea off the Lower California coast was covered with wreckage.

SEARCH FOR GIRL IN MURDER CASE

Authorities are searching from the Eastbay to Los Angeles in an effort to find out if Mary Johnson, 10 years old, has men a similar fate as that of little Leonora Aguilar, who was murdered at Tracy. They have failed thus far in their search for Louis Zamorra and his wife, who are accused of the murder of the Aguilar girl.

Mary Johnson, whose relation to the Zamorras is also a puzzle, disappeared from Tracy three days ago, after she was returned from Stockton to the Zamorras. Children who played with Mary said that she told she had run away to Stockton, because she was afraid her "aunt" would kill her. Christobal Gamino, 14, of Tracy said that Mary made this statement definitely and that she said she "knew what she did to Leonora."

Funds Will Be Collected For Ensuing Year

Members of the executive committee are: W. D. Mason, H. A. Johnston, C. S. Renwick, W. T. Helms, J. L. Dawson, Larking Younce, and P. M. Sanford.

For six years the Young Men's Christian Association of Richmond has secured the best interests of the community by providing financial and moral influences for its youth men and boys. Prior to last year the funds for its maintenance were raised by an annual campaign conducted by its friends.

A year ago Richmond decided to try the Community Chest plan. The Y. M. C. A. entered heartily into the plan and threw its forces into the campaign. It was to have received $5000 for its year's budget. The failure of the Chest to attain its goal cut the amount actually paid to the Y. M. C. A. to $2,100. This meant a cut in activities and the accumulation of a deficit of about $6,000.

After several meetings of the Board of Directors and consultation with other leading business men it was decided to raise $12,000 at the time to pay running expenses for the coming twelve months and lift part of the deficit.

Richmond has never failed the Y. M. C. A. and the committee feels confident its citizens will respond to this appeal that there may be no further cut in its work.

The following men were announced as those who have consented to act as team captains by Dr. Gibson, last evening: Charles S. Renwick, J. H. Plate, C. E. Parker, W. J. Richards, Jr., John L. Rinn, P. M. Sanford, Aubrey Wilson, Rev. F. A. Wagon, F. George Harlow, George Lee, J. E. Hill, Zeb Knott, Harley Carter, and L. R. Geyer. A women's team is also being lined up by Dr. Gibson; the leadership of which will be announced later.

GHOSTS OF GOLD DAYS

By PIERCE EGAN
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

LOVELAND, Colo., Sept. 19.—Weather-beaten and scarred by years of service and decidedly unkempt because a life of loneliness leaves hideous marks upon one's pride, Frank Leser, 75 years old, the only inhabitant of Robinson, Colorado, a mining camp that once boasted a population of six thousand souls, emerged from his tumbled-down shack to point out to his correspondent the trail that leads over the Mosquito range.

Harold M. Dunning, mountain guide of Loveland, Colorado, had piloted the writer over vast stretches of the Rocky Mountains to this ghost city, a relic of the boom mining days. Robinson is located midway between Dillon and Leadville and for the past six years Leser has been the only inhabitant of the town, being in the employ of mining interests to look after the machinery in the abandoned mines.

"I do get a bit lonesome at times," he said, when queried, "but this camp is coming back and I won't be long here alone."

This is the hope and sentiment that surrounds the lives of hundreds of old time prospectors in dozens of deserted mining cities of the west. Far down in the valley two engines were putting and starting in an effort to push half a dozen freight cars, on the narrow gauge railroad, up the mountain side.

"I suppose the only company you have it that train crew," Mr. Dunning ventured.

"Oh, they don't stop here any more," he said, "they short right through from Denver to Leadville. This town is just like a person who has kind of slipped and fell. She's on the black list—but she's coming back."

Hundreds of deserted buildings stand as sentinels in the colorful and picturesque surroundings. Saloons, dance halls and gambling dens that long ago passed into ancient history of the west land, appear as though they had been abandoned only yesterday. Bottles are still standing on the bars of the tumbled-down old saloons; musty cards are heaped in a corner of one of the old rooms where the "sky was the limit," when the poke of dust was tilted by the prospector of a generation ago. Red, green and purple painted lanterns still hang from the ceilings of many of the dance halls and the atmosphere has become literally saturated and petrified with the things of yesterday.

CITIES PLAN TO FIGHT ANY FARE INCREASE

Prepared for a finish fight against the application of the Key System Transit company for permission to raise its street car and ferry rates, city attorneys of all the Eastbay cities will attend the Key System hearing before the state railroad commission tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Oakland City Hall.

City Attorney D. J. Hall will represent Richmond at the gathering. Hall plans to make a fight for the establishing of a two-fare rate between Richmond and Oakland, holding that the present three-fare rate is inequitable.

The hearing of the Southern Pacific company's application for increased rates will be held before the state railroad commission Thursday morning at the Oakland City Hall.

Veterans Entertain Building Committee

talk was well interspersed with humor and jokes.

A living monument to living veterans was the name put to the hall by John A. Miller, chairman of the park and playground committee, who spoke on behalf of the committee.

He said that to his knowledge other cities in the state were following the lead of Richmond in building a memorial hall.

The problems that confronted the city council in making preparations for the hall were told by Postmaster John A. Long, former councilman. He stated that the ways and means of appropriating of funds from taxes was a problem that offered unlimited difficulties to this body.

Besides heaping compliments on the building committee, every speaker of the evening cast laurels upon the entertainment and dinner committee through whose efforts the event was carried out with such a high degree of success.

The story to the battle of Balleau Woods was told in a stirring poem recited by J. H. Armstrong, a world-war chaplain. "The Little Streams of Duna," with a popular encore was rendered vocally by Bert Carter as one of the most entertaining parts of the program.

County Purchasing Agent Belshaw declared that Richmond's Memorial hall was the finest in the state and he was proud to have been of assistance in its erection.

The feature of the program was Al Paulsen with his justly famous handwriting stunt. Exhibitions of writing upside down, backwards, reversed and Chinese writing were given and well received.

Dennis Shaw's orchestra, which besides Shaw is composed of Ward McCracken, Jack Sinnott and A. J. Hall, opened the evening with the Star Spangled Banner. Throughout the banquet they kept things livened up with popular and classical selections.

The singing of America by all assembled closed the evening. A twenty-second silence was observed in honor of deceased veterans. After the program those unfamiliar with the building were taken, on a tour of inspection by W. D. Dobler.

Honored at the affair were the building committee composed of G. Herrick, J. Galvin, of the G. A. R.; O. Paulsen, J. Gilmore, and E. E. Grow, of the United Spanish War Veterans; E. Seger, Fred Heeger and Ralph Woods of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Larking Younce, Al Browning.

and W. A. Vickery of the American Legion. Vickery was chairman of the committee.

The city council was represented by Mayor W. W. Scott, Mrs. Marie Ozbarn, George F. Back and E. J. Miller, Purchasing Agent Belshaw, City Attorney Hall, Architect Narbett, Builder Cobsley, Al Paulsen, and C. F. Donnelly were also honored.

The committee responsible for the success of the chicken dinner and entertainment consisted of J. E. Robins, chairman; Rud Crose, Theodore Caplan, George Tandy, S. R. Sut, John Hansen, W. Oakley, R. D. Reed, Mrs. R. D. Reed, Mrs. L. Launnewhr, and W. D. Wilson.

The woman who entertains well—

THERE'S something indescribably fine about the woman who entertains well. From the cheery appearance of her home to the service she so deftly affords — everything is so natural yet—so charmingly different.

Such splendid hostesses, once very rare and belonging only to the idle classes, are now to be found everywhere. They grace homes in every walk of life—making them happier though the many friends they attract.

Advertisements keep these women ahead of the commonplace. Advertisements tell of the newest and most delightful things. Advertisements announce new customs and practices. They tell what the world approves as correct.

The woman who entertains well must read the advertisements. Not only to keep pace with progress — but to learn how to do so on a limited purse. For advertisements are more than harbingers of style—they are announcements of economies that may be practiced safely.

Read the advertisements — to know what is new, what is correct—and what is economical

G.O.P. WOMEN ORGANIZE UNIT OF PARTY HERE

Organization of a Richmond unit of the Republican Women's Federation was perfected at a meeting held this week in the former Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tenth street.

Mrs. Dorothy Lenroot Black, daughter of Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, was present and made a talk on the aims and purposes of the organization. She explained that the only way to break legislation can be remedied and steps taken toward suppressing of the crime wave is by expressing opinions and desires through the ballot, by petition and other political means.

According to her statistics, approximately half of the population does not go to the polls, while citizens who have the vote in other countries take advantage of their opportunity to become self governing.

Further valuable suggestions were offered by Mrs. George R. Rigg, prominent in state women's club activities, who is organizing these units in cities of 4,000 or more population.

Mrs. S. S. Ripley, who presided as chairman of the meeting, received notice of her permanent appointment to the post by Mrs. Rigg. Mrs. Tsar Calfee was elected secretary of the unit.

A study group for the Richmond women is planned for Thursday night, October 1, at 8 o'clock, to lay further plans for the organization.

"Let's go to California"

EVERY day some tired, prosperous or otherwise travel-inclined man says to his wife, "Let's go to California!" And such is the power of advertising that, although neither of them may ever have been there before, they know just how to go approximately what it will cost, and where they will want to stay.

The same with anything you may need or want. You already know all about it, by whom it is made, what it costs, and where it is for sale. Advertising is the modern intelligencer. It keeps you informed, advises you of new things, suggests new uses for articles you already own, and prepares you today for wise and useful purchases tomorrow.

It does all this for you, almost unconsciously, during the half-hour or so you spend each day with your newspaper. Little by little—the best and surest way to learn—advertising makes you informed of what is going on in the world that is useful to you.

Read the advertisements. Get ready for tomorrow

Small Hope For Settling Hindenburg Ludendorff Feud

O. D. TOLISCHUS
Universal Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Hindenburg and Ludendorff—the two inseparable war leaders during Germany's greatest struggle but late estranged—are becoming open enemies.

In recent speeches, especially at the Schneidemuehl camp of the German exiles expelled from Poland, Ludendorff took violent and outspoken issue with practically all the policies Hindenburg indorsed as president, and a circular issued by Ludendorff's followers the arrow is turned sharply against Hindenburg personally.

"Hindenburg has been a failure"—these ominous words which but a short time ago would have seemed like blasphemy to all German nationalists, and especially the Ludendorffs, are now broadcasted by these same nationalists throughout the land. The circular ends with:

"Hail, Chancellor Ludendorff!" Referring to the title of "Savior" which the nationalists gave Hindenburg during the campaign, the "Welt am Montag," organ of the well-known pacifist, Hellmut von Gerlach, remarks maliciously:

"Apparently, the Ludendorff followers now need a savior from the 'savior'."

The circular reads: "Only one great German, a German rock, General Ludendorff, still stands proud, unbroken, unbent—Young Germany's last and only hope in the Sodom and Gomorrah of the seven-year renunciation and fulfillment policy, of the German exploitation and cowardly traitor game of a Stresmann—for even a Hindenburg has been a failure, that must be said here openly and honestly—he has capitulated before the black-red-gold profiteer clique."

Ludendorff didn't mention Hindenburg's name, but his thrusts were unmistakable. He said:

"This black-red-gold (the colors of the republic) has added new shame to old guilt, even if Germans have given it today the stamp of the black, white and red (the colors of the empire)."

"The shame of Schneidemuehl must live in history as symbol of the depth to which Germany has fallen."

"Everybody in Berlin is asleep. Mr. Rauscher, (the German ambassador to Poland) is on vacation, the German Reichstag passes miserable resolutions and the Prussian diet acts as if this was none of its business."

Instead, everybody is preparing for Constitution Day. For the exiled there is no protection, no celebration no welcome; against Poland, no deed."

"A government which wants to mobilize the forces of a nation behind it, must put in place of the prevalent stinking corruption the moral idea of the state, instead of placing itself at the head of the demoralization, as was done in the 'devaluation' of public loans and the handling of the corruption scandals."

In place of the black-red-gold dictatorship of the Jews and a political power abusing religion (which is a thrust at the Catholic Center) must come the rule of the people or the rule for the people."

MILK SUPPLY IS GOOD HERE

That Richmond's milk supply is of the highest degree of purity and wholesomeness is indicated by tests conducted here by the bureau of dairy control of the state department of agriculture.

Attributing the improvement of the local milk supply to the work accomplished by Dr. R. R. Root, city veterinarian, Dr. M. E. McDonald, market milk specialist of the bureau of dairy control, who conducted the tests, yesterday declared that none of the eleven dairies of the Richmond district fell below 90 percent in the test. This score is the highest ever made in the city and compares favorably with state records.

Dr. McDonald based his ratings on the following points: Bacteria, 35 percent; flavor and odor 10 percent; sediment, 10 percent; butter fat 15 percent; solids not fat 15 percent; bottle and cap condition 10 percent; acidity 5 percent.

Problems of The Zionists

WILLIAM ZUKERMAN
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Not since the arrival of the late President Wilson in Paris have the Jewish Communities in Europe been so stirred by the presence of a leading American as by that of Louis Marshall, of New York, who is now in Europe.

To those people Mr. Marshall not only represents America as a whole, but also that part of America which actually supplies the funds to carry on most of the Jewish Relief work in Europe. As leader of the American Jewish committee he was instrumental in organizing the Joint Distribution committee, which raised immediately after the war over sixty million dollars for the relief of European Jews. The same institution is now planning to collect another fifteen million dollars specially for colonizing the Russian Jews.

Mr. Marshall can therefore be styled as the true "keeper of the Jewish American purse." He can not only talk, but also act for American Jewry, and hence his arrival in Paris has been regarded as an event of great importance.

The first consideration of Mr. Marshall was the settlement of the problem of the thousands of Jewish refugees stranded in European ports as a result of the restrictions of the American Immigration law. In consultation with the Anglo-Jewish leaders, Leonard Montefiore and Otto Schiff, who met him in Paris, as well as with the heads of the Jewish Colonization Association (known as the I. C. A.) the executive of the Jewish World Relief conference and the Directors of the United Jewish Emigration committee, funds amounting to about $700,000 have been secured for the scheme of settling the emigrants in Palestine, France and South America. An executive body, known as the United Emigration committee, has been set up in Paris representing the above mentioned organizations, and immediate arrangements have been made to transport the stranded emigrants to permanent homes. The possibilities afforded by the new conditions in Palestine for the settlement there of larger numbers of immigrants provided with funds will be fully utilized.

In addition, advantage will be taken of the new facilities afforded by France for the settlement of Jewish agricultural laborers in the South. As a result of the war there is a great scarcity of agricultural laborers in France, and if only one Jewish family is sent to every French agricultural settlement, 36,000 families can be absorbed in the country to the satisfaction of the French government which is very anxious to see the declining population of the country increased in one way or another. For all these schemes funds are needed, and Mr. Louis Marshall has promised the earnest co-operation of American Jewry in the matter.

Mrs. Marshall is also studying in Europe the work of the League of Nations in the interests of the refugees and its possible co-operation in the settlement of the stranded Jewish emigrants in the South American Republics.

Where Your Building Dollar Goes

Survey Shows Advantage of Permanent Economy

BEFORE building a home, one of the first steps is to find out what features of the house are going to cost the most, what relation their cost bears to the rest of the house and how to arrange the specifications so that they will all properly balance. This prevents hidden extravaganzas and false economies as well.

With this in view it is interesting to look over an analysis of how the building dollar is usually spent, based upon the construction costs of nine houses varying in price from $2,000 to $23,000, and averaging $15,000. This table shows that every dollar expended is split up as follows:

Excavating, grading	1.8 cents	$270
Masonry	9.4 cents	1,410
Stucco, plaster, tile	10.6 cents	1,590
Carpentry	27.2 cents	4,080
Roofing	5.4 cents	810
Flashings, downspouts and gutters	0.7 cents	105
Plumbing	9.3 cents	1,395
Heating	7.0 cents	1,050
Electric wiring	2.7 cents	405
Hardware	2.0 cents	300

Painting, glazing	4.5 cents	675
Screens	0.9 cents	135
Total construction	$15.00	$22,500
Landscaping	3.0 cents	450
Builder's profit	9.4 cents	1,410
Architect's fee	4.5 cents	675
Financing	1.6 cents	240
	100.0	$15,000

The table shows that the plumbing installations cost less than 10 per cent of the whole and yet they are the features of any building that can cause more trouble, damage and expense than any other. It is a poor saving to use the cheapest sort of plumbing for, in a few years when rust gets in its work, the replacement costs will be not only that of ripping out the faulty material but will usually include also repairs to the house itself caused by leaks.

The same applies to roof flashing, gutters and leaders and to the hardware, screens and lighting fixtures. Architects generally advise their clients to use lasting materials such as copper, brass and bronze to eliminate the ravages and replacement expense due to rust.

DOORS

Doors—that is, swinging flaps to close the openings in doorways—originated in Egypt and Chaldea. These primitive doors were pivoted, not hinged. They were mostly the property of the wealthy, the poorer classes using curtains of skins. These using curtains.

Doors were of wood, covered with bronze plates bearing reliefs of historical scenes.

Free State Planning Big Effort To Boost Farming

By DENNIS O'CONNELL
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

DOUBLIN, Sept. 19.—Wash., one of the Executive members of the Free State Government, announces that a big attempt is to be made to stimulate farming in Ireland.

"The increase of acreage under tillage," he said, "is one of our most pressing problems. Apart from the sentimental reasons which urged us to oust the British, there was the big and compelling one that our race was being slowly but surely wiped out through the economic system under which we lived. The drought of economic decline cannot be permitted to continue."

"A progressive government like ours can scarcely be expected to act the part of disinterested spectator in a condition of affairs that bred hunger or emigration in a country easily capable of sustaining in comfort many times its present population. We have the cheapest and richest soil in Europe. We are in close proximity to the world's best markets, yet our competitors can fill their land and sell their produce presumably to advantage, while people can be found in Ireland who declare that agriculture doesn't pay."

"A generation ago our people ploughed an average of 30 per cent of their holdings. In 1915 the percentage had dropped to 16. It is now down to 10. According to the International Statistical Year Book 1912-1916, out of 23 countries listed Ireland ranked second as a producer of rye and oats, third in barley and wheat, and sixth and seventh respectively in flax and potatoes. Today our competitors are cultivating far more intensively than we are; in fact one may travel from Dunkirk to Belgrade without observing an acre of grass or waste soil.

"One might travel from one end of Ireland to the other without observing that there is such a thing as tillage at all. That is the explanation of our falling exports and increasing imports. It is also the cause of emigration and nine-tenths of our unemployment."

"Practically our sole means of production is the soil. When production declines there is a corresponding decline in the whole national fabric, including State revenue. Many of us believe that the millions now being spent in various forms of unemployment dole should henceforth be applied to a productive capacity alone."

MOOSE HALL TO BE BUILT SOON ON MACDONALD

A beautiful two story brick and terra cotta building, to be known as the "Moose Building" is to be erected at the southwest corner of Tenth and Macdonald by F. A. Muller of Oakland. The lower floor will contain stores on Tenth and also on Macdonald, and the upper floor will contain ten professional offices and the club rooms of the Moose lodge. The main entrance to the building will be on Macdonald avenue. The lot and building will represent an investment of about $100,000.

The deal for the building has been on for some time, and it was not until yesterday that an agreement was reached. The Moose takes a long term lease on the entire upper floor. The organization will sublet some of the offices.

For the Moose the second floor will contain a lodge room, a recreation room, banquet room, locker rooms, and rest room for the ladies.

Ground breaking for the new building will start in a short time, and it is expected the structure will be ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

The building will be one of the most attractive in Richmond. The plans show that the Moose will have one of the most modern appointed clubrooms in the state.

The committee, who had in charge the securing of the new home for the Moose is composed of Supervisor Zeb Knott (chairman), T. Iverson, Dictator W. Vossbach, Mayor W. W. Scott, J. Alexander, H. E. Jacobs, W. Mayer, Ed. Forwick and J. Martin.

and after a hurried call for the entire directorate and a few efficiency experts he did make us the wonderful offer of selling us a Jubilee Half Dollar for 99 cents.

And now we offer to you dear reader an opportunity to assist us in our work of benevolence. We have started a Fighter's fund to which no subscriptions will be received in excess of one cent.

With the idea hardly dry behind the ears we did have the following success after visiting 989 prospects: PHILANTHROPIC BIG BILL, of the Twenty-third Street Gang, etc.

Bill says he was prompted by the spirit to make the donation.

TWO DOLLAR LOUIE, etc. He says he is putting this in as a bait for the return of his two dollar bills. The penny looks marked.

ME. PENNY, etc. This was turned over by his bookkeeper, who stated that it is part of a 14c benevolent fund which he gave her for safe keeping before leaving for Los Angeles.

With the three cents to start off the fund we now beseech the citizens of this hamlet to come to our assistance in assuring the terrific conflict.

Before returning to our place of habitation we did witness a most distressing sight. With handfuls of each other hair Fred of the First National, Willis of the Mechanics and Ivan of the Mercantile, called upon us to settle the dispute as to where the fund is to be deposited.

Willis asked for the account so that he could have the coppers to practice for the scheduled penny counting contest. Ivan and Fred insist on the account for the same reason, but rather than cause any ill feeling we did call upon our friend H. Mark us down and borrow a sock for the fund. This will not be accepted as an excuse for not subscribing to the fund.

OFFICERS AGAIN BATTLE WITH FRANK VARGAS

Frank Vargas, former Richmond resident and member of the Black Stocking gang that staged a series of sensational madhouse holdups in this vicinity three years ago, is still at large after shooting his way to freedom from a cordon of police on three occasions since last Thursday.

Vargas, fearless and swearing never to be taken alive, was sighted on the outskirts of Oakland yesterday, after out shooting Policemen F. A. Pierce and L. L. Newell, made good his escape.

After the third shooting scrape, in which Vargas point blank at Pierce three times before the officer could draw a bead, a mysterious telephone tip gave the information that the fugitive was headed for San Jose in an automobile. Officers were stationed at East Fourteenth street and Foothill boulevard, but their prey failed to appear. He either decided not to leave the city or eluded the vigilance of the officers.

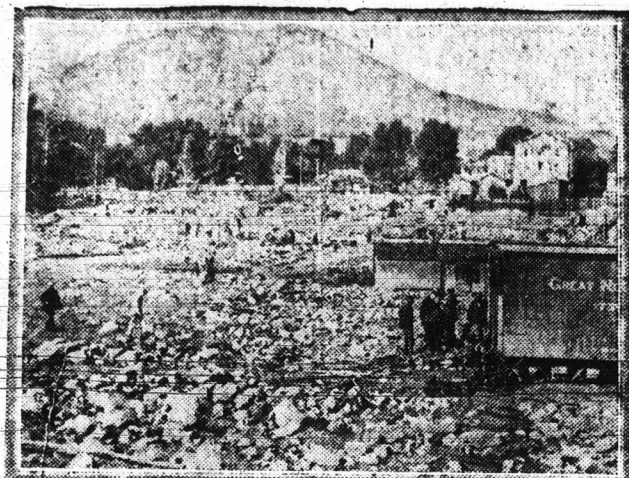

C. H. Cherne, 5466 Outlook street, Oakland, reported to the Eastern police station that a suspicious character was lurking around his house. Pierce and Newell were sent from the station.

Newell was on guard at the front of the house when Pierce crept up at the rear. From behind a tree the man believed to be Vargas opened fire and cutting a pathway to freedom with a barrage of pistol shots vaulted a fence in the back yard and fled as the officers fired their first shots.

Vargas finally escaped into a clump of bushes some distance from the Cherne home and efforts of police under Captain Thorvald Brown to find him were fruitless.

Vargas, a paroled San Quentin prisoner, opened his warfare with the police last Thursday, when he was caught stealing fixtures from an unfinished house in Berkeley.

11 KILLED WHEN 12-FOOT WALL OF WATER SWEEPS WASHINGTON MOUNTAIN TOWN AFTER CLOUDBURST

Above is a general view of Terminal, a little mountain town near Wenatchee, Wash., after it had been swept by a fierce rainstorm and cloudburst. An avalanche of water 12 feet high rushed down on the town, wrecking many buildings, and taking a toll of 11 lives. At the upper right in the photograph may be seen the town's two hotels, which were torn from their foundations and crushed together during the height of the storm.

Protection Of Parks Is Asked By Committee

An appeal to help protect the parks and playgrounds of Richmond is contained in a communication to the public received from John A. Miller, chairman of the park and playgrounds committee. The letter follows:

For quite some time, certain grown up children, who should know better have been tramping over the flower beds and destroying trees and shrubs in Elm and Memorial Parks.

In view of the fact that these trees and shrubs are young and tender and at this time cannot survive if tampered with, and further in view of the fact that Memorial Park was conceived and is being maintained as a living monument to the living heroes of the United States, it is kindly asked that each mother and each father kindly ask their children to refrain from destroying or tramping on the flower beds of the involved parks.

We feel that no one would insult our war heroes, yet that is practically what is being done when any part of a monument that is maintained for them, is destroyed or littered up in any way.

The co-operation of everyone will be gratefully appreciated.

Respectfully,
JOHN A. MILLER,
Chairman Park and Playground Committee.

Flying School To Be Started At Flying Field

Activities at the Richmond Airport are beginning to take on real life with the announcement made yesterday by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce that an aviation school is to be started there in the near future.

Young men of this city who have aspirations to soar through the clouds will have an opportunity to gratify their ambitions when Lieutenant Robert W. Martin, formerly of Montana, but now doing commercial flying in Richmond, starts his school here.

Martin is a flyer of wide experience. He first took up flying in 1913, when he entered the Canadian air service, going overseas in 1917. After the war he returned to the United States and took up commercial flying. The war in China later attracted his attention and he went to that country, singing for one year's service as instructor for Dr. Sun Yat Sen's forces.

Martin declared that the Chinese officers were extremely intelligent, quick witted, eager to learn and quite adaptable. He declared that they have great possibilities as flyers if they have the opportunity to learn.

CANDY STORE IS OPENED ON NINTH

For the accommodation of pupils in Lincoln and Roosevelt schools a candy store will be opened at the Cunningham building on Ninth street by F. W. Collins, who has been conducting a cigar store and news stand at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue. The new place will be opened in about two weeks.

NEW BOOTBLACK STAND ON AVENUE

After conducting a bootblack stand on Sixth street for two years, R. F. Johnson has taken up a new location in front of Hugh Smith's barber shop at 1925 Macdonald avenue. The new stand is larger and more attractive than the old one. It is also in a better location. Johnson's son is continuing to keep the Sixth street stand open.

The remains of Sands were interred in Sunset View cemetery by Coroner C. F. Donnelly.

There is a tendency towards a misconception of PRICE. After all, "You don't get something for nothing." The many things that enter into the cost of production and distribution create PRICE. Years of competitive business experience have reduced PRICE. Therefore rest assured that you get only what you pay for. If the price is cheaper the merchandise likewise corresponds. Touring Car

The pronounced streamline of the improved Ford Touring Car is particularly accentuated in the higher radiator, the long sweep of the hood and cowl and the large crown fenders which come down well over both front and rear wheels. The body is longer, wider and sets 4 1/2 inches lower. Seats have been redesigned and are lower. There is greater leg room in the car. All four doors open forward and storm curtains are provided with uprights and open with the doors. The gasoline tank is under the cowl, permitting outside filling and easy access to sediment bulb. Chassis changes include larger and more powerful brakes and other important mechanical improvements.

Improved Ford Runabout Suggests Sport Model

The streamline body of the improved Ford Runabout, which includes, in one sweep, the radiator, hood, cowl, tonneau and gracefully sloping rear deck gives this type the racy lines of a sport model.

The entire effect of the Runabout is low, an effect which is accentuated by the low windshield, the bottom half of which conforms to the shape of the cowl, and the low set top. Fenders are wide and hung close to the wheels and together with the lowered suspension of the frame gives the model a suggestion of speed and reliability.

Riding comfort is insured by especially designed low seat and back rest. A door is provided at the driver's left, permitting easy entry or exit. The gasoline tank, which is under the cowl may be filled without disturbing either driver or passenger. Storm curtains open with the doors and are held firmly in place by rigid uprights.

The wide door makes access and exit easy and deep, restful cushions of new design add to riding comfort. One-piece windshield and narrow roof pillar afford full visibility for the driver. As with other improved types the gasoline tank is under the cowl and is filled from outside, so that neither driver nor passenger is disturbed.

PETALUMA HIGH DEFEATS RICHMOND ELEVEN 3-2

PACIFIC COAST GRID SEASON TO OPEN SATURDAY

Throughout the United States on next Saturday afternoon a score or more giant bowls will ring with the cheers of victor and the groans of the vanquished as they bowl for their respective teams in the opening games of the 1925 football season.

In the Pacific Coast conference three games will be played. Santa Clara will meet the University of California at Berkeley the Olympic club will play Stanford at Palo Alto and Washington will tangle with Willamette at Seattle.

What the Golden Bear will do to Santa Clara seems to be a foregone conclusion. Experts who have seen the two eleven work out aver that a score of between 25 and 40 to 0 will result from the conflict.

Andy Smith has the whole Bear crew of last year with him this season with the exception of the center, but he has a flock of understudies of the great Babe Horrell to work on. This game should give the Californians a good start toward their goal of the sixth victorious season.

Stanford against the Olympic club should be the best game of the day. Both teams are strong, but those in the know give Pop Warner's eleven a slight edge. The team that held the University of California to a tie score in 1924 should have little difficulty in conquering the Olympians.

Washington without a doubt had the best team in the Northwest last year. They are going in against a school that never has had a chance of coming out ahead in the conference and according to dope should beat Willamette worse than California beats Santa Clara.

On Sunday St. Mary's College will meet the Navy at San Francisco. The Saints appear to have at last gotten into the swing of Slip Madigans style and no fan doubts their ability to triumph over the sailors.

The Saturday of October 3, will see every eleven in the Pacific Coast conference in action except Washington. Every week after that the early season games will be reeled off, working rapidly up to the middle of the season when the hardest battles of the season are expected.

SHADE FIGHTS FOR CROWN ON MONDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Dave Shade, former school boy of Richmond, California, will have his chance to become welterweight champion of the world Monday night when he meets Mickie Walker at the Yankee stadium.

The two combatants began tapering training today as both feel they are in the pink of condition and all set to contend for and defend the crown. Walker topped the balance at 145½ pounds on the scales in his training camp in Red Bank, N. J. His last hard workout was witnessed by Chief Deputy Edward Curry of the state athletic commission.

INSPECTIONS MADE.
In accordance with the rules of the commission, Deputy Curry plans to inspect the training of Shade at a gymnasium here.

Dave has displayed considerable speed in his workout and the champion may be compelled to run for cover. The bout will be a fifteen round decision affair.

DAVE CONFIDENT.
Shade predicts victory inside of 9 rounds but his calculations are slightly different than those of the majority of the fans who place him 66 to 5 to lose. However, it is expected that the Richmond lad will enter the squared circle with the odds even. Plenty of Shade money is available though—even as much as there is favoring Mickie.

PROFESSIONAL TENNIS PLAYER CLAIMS NEW RECORD; HAND IS SO LARGE HE CAN CARRY FOURTEEN BALLS

A. P. Burke, professional at the Deauville Tennis club, France, can carry fourteen tennis balls in one hand and can serve seven balls with one hand. He is shown here holding fourteen balls.

Richards' Tennis Notes

By VINCENT RICHARDS
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Lawn tennis can now be classed as the Universal game. It is played in every country in the world and under practically the same conditions. The outdoor season will come to a close shortly in this country, but south of the equator the tournament season will be starting in full swing.

It is not difficult to find the reason for the popularity of tennis. The Davis Cup matches in which every country in the world enters a team is the answer and they have probably done more in promoting good will among the leading nations of the world than anything else.

There has been much rejoicing in England over the victory of the women's team in the International Wightman Cup matches. It is felt by English followers of the net game that they have atoned in some measure for the miserable showing of the male stars. The English ladies demonstrated one thing if nothing else that it is possible for women to travel three thousand miles overseas to a strange country, competing under strange conditions with different balls and still retain their best playing form.

It has been stated on all sides that women were under a far greater disadvantage when competing in a foreign country. Experts claimed that new conditions upset them easier than the male players. The success of Mrs. Lambert Chambers, Miss McKane, Miss Fry, Miss Colyer and Miss Harvey has exploded this theory for all time.

Since 1919 the Australian tennis players have been an important factor in our national doubles championships. Each year they come 26,000 miles in quest of the Davis Cup and although they have not been exactly successful insofar as the international trophy has been concerned this cannot be said in regard to the doubles championship. On three occasions they have carried the doubles bowl back to the land down under with them.

The secret of Australia's strength in doubles lies in the fact that they make their players perform together on every possible occasion. This tends to develop team-work and that is the key-note of success at the doubles game. The mere fact that the United States has been able to stop the Australian invaders at various times only means that it was accomplished by the individual brilliancy of the American players.

Petaluma Makes Score That Wins

HILL SHOWS BEWILDERMENT

Richmond Lacks Counting Wallop
At Times When Victory Is At Hand

Richmond Union high school's football team bit off a bigger hunk than it could chew yesterday afternoon, when it tackled the Petaluma high school eleven at Petaluma on a two day notice. Playing against a heavier, faster and more experienced crew, Coach Ivan Hill's men managed to hold the White Leghorns down until the extent of the defeat was almost negligible. A drop kick by Petaluma and a safety by Richmond for a 3 to 2 score were the only tallies of the day.

Richmond's disaster came late in the third quarter when the ball was on the seven yard line. The Petalumians had pushed the pigskin nearly the length of the field when the navy blue and gold stiffened and held the rushing opposition for four downs without gain. Then Petaluma kicked successfully.

Richmond removed all chance of the ignominy of a scoreless game in the last two minutes of play. Petaluma had the ball on its own five yard line and were downed four successive times without a foot of yardage. Fearing to kick, the chickenmen tried an end run and were spiked back of their own goal line.

This is the first defeat for Hill's men this season and came as quite a surprise. Hill evidently had a good deal of confidence in the ability of his team when with hardly any notice he pitted them against the Petaluma outfit. University high and Oakland Tech. both have been defeated this year by Richmond and both of them are undoubtedly of a calibre far above that of Petaluma.

Hill declared he was at a loss to know how it all happened, but attributed the defeat to a day off.

The lineup of the game for Richmond was: Baldwin, center; Diamantini and Caldwell, guards; Hutchinson and Reimer, tackles; Grey and Carey, ends; Siegel, quarter; Captain Millicovich, full; Dyer and Holland, halves; Dalton, Borgstrom, and Arnold, substitutes.

ZOELLER, ATLANTA STAR, FOR WHOM YANKEES GAVE $25,000 AND 4 PLAYERS

Frank Zoeller, rightfielder with the Atlantic club, is called the "most valuable outfielder in the minor leagues" by Bobby Gilks, veteran scout with the New York American League club. On Gilks' recommendation, the Yankees have paid $25,000 for Zoeller and in addition will give the Atlanta club four players. Zoeller is a small man, but he is an excellent fielder and hitter.

Students Plan Athletic Fund Carnival Fete

For the purpose of raising funds for the benefit of the athletics of the school, the students of Richmond high are staging a carnival on October 23. The affair will be given in the gym. The money derived will be used for equipping the various teams of the school.

Although the affair is being given by the student body, Miss Clara McLarin, girls athletic instructor, and Ivan Hill, boys coach, are cooperating with these students to put the event over so that it will be long remembered as an outstanding feature of school activities.

There will be concession booths in the gym assembly and various parts of the grounds. Vaudeville stunts will feature the program.

TAILORS PLAY CONCORD TODAY

In what will probably be the last game of the 1925 season for Concord, and with the semi-pro pennant of Contra Costa county as a prize, Elmer Hansen's Schneider Tailors plays Concord at Concord this afternoon. With twelve straight victories, the Tailors feel confident of breaking down Concord's record of fourteen victories to their five defeats.

Carl Kamb will endeavor to make it a baker's dozen for Richmond, while Roy Bliss, south paw impored from Martinez, will be on the mound for Concord. Elmer Hansen will probably act as backstop for the locals, while Dick Austin, Richmond's catcher, will handle Bliss's slants.

Retains Title

William H. Tilden proved himself to be a better man than William Johnson at Forest Hills, New York, yesterday, when he retained his singles championship by scores of 4-6, 11-9, 6-3, 4-6, and 6-3. Tilden now has six victories out of seven starts for the title. He has won four straight and has met Johnson six times in seven years. Tilden started slowly as is his custom, but soon began to wear down his slighter opponent.

FIFTY CYCLISTS COMPETE TODAY

Fifty crack motorcycle drivers from all parts of the state will participate in the annual hill-climbing contest of the Oakland Motorcycle club, this afternoon at Peralta hill, just east of San Pablo avenue. Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento and Stockton are included in the cities that will have entries in the four hill-climbing events on the day's program.

Peralta hill, where the climb will be held, has an 82 percent grade and is said to be one of the most difficult motorcycle climbs in the state. The stretch over which the motorcycles will race is 720 feet long.

The events will include a novice climb for 80-cubic inch motorcycles, expert climbs for 61 and 80 cubic inch machines, and an 80 cubic-inch open event.

It is expected that over 25,000 people will gather at Stege Junction to witness the contests.

Sons Soccer Team To Play Fruitvale

On next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Sons of St. George soccer team will meet the Fruitvale first league game of the season. They will hold their last practice game this afternoon at San Pablo playgrounds. The celebrated Sons band will be on hand next Sunday to cheer the players through to victory.

Milton Fletcher of Sutter City, arrived in Richmond last night to spend the week-end with his sister, Mrs. Archie Kemble of 2223 Macdonald avenue.

THE PRIMARIES

The only machine politics in New York City is Tammany's. There is no compromise in the make-up of this organization. Anything not of or for it is doomed.

There is quite a contrast between the machine in New York City and in the state of Wisconsin. In the case of Gotham, the machine in New York City and in the state of own men who kick over the traces. But in Wisconsin, the republican organization was treated to the usual scuffling at the hands of the pious independents. A person with perhaps less qualification for the job of United States senator than any of the other candidates, was triumphantly nominated by the republican party because he was the son of a man who had captured the imaginations of the crowd.

Senator Walker administered a sore defeat to Hyman, the uncouth mayor of New York, and, we warrant, there will be the opportunity now to elect a mayor of another political faith who stands for something bigger and better than the sidewalk singing and shouting of the political clubs.

We would be pleased with the assurance that there is a chance to elect a democrat as senator from Wisconsin, but there is little chance of it. The magic of the name of La Follette is still strong in the Badger state.

The way those new York democrats are lambasting each other would indicate that they have entirely forgotten the lesson of the democratic national convention of 1924.

HOW THE GAS TAX WORKS

When the state of Oregon originated the gasoline tax plan in 1919 it was considered quite a novelty. Today it is effective in forty-four states and the District of Columbia. Oregon started with a collection of one cent a gallon. South Carolina has raised the rate to five cents a gallon. These states—Arkansas, Nevada and North Carolina—have a rate of four cents. Utah has gone to three and a half cents and thirteen states now collect a tax of three cents a gallon.

The California legislature raised the rate to three cents at the last session but Governor Richardson vetoed the bill, so California remains in the list having a two-cent gas tax.

Only four of the thirty-six states with a gasoline tax have held the rate down to one cent a gallon.

The states which have not adopted this plan for highway building and maintenance are New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Illinois.

Only thirty-six states and the District of Columbia collected a tax on gasoline last year yet the sum of $79,734,490 was raised. As eight more states are using the plan this year, many with higher rates, and as the consumption of gasoline is showing an enormous increase it is plain that a considerable sum will be collected during 1925 for highway purposes.

Four persons out of five get four gallons of gas for five at four out of five filling stations.

The Chinese are growing so presumptuous that they want China.

Marriage isn't a failure just because some of those who try it are.

Fascisti and anti-Fascisti Italians rioted the other day at Newark, N. J. First thing you know this trouble is going to spread to the United States.

They drove an auto by radio in New York. Even that was safer than someone in the back seat driving.

Here's great news for boarders. The salmon catch of Alaska may become exhausted soon.

Expert Pleaters Offer New Devices
To Suit the Fashions That Are New.

DID you ever stop to consider the pleating on the skirt of your frock or on the collar of your coat? Probably not very seriously. Pleating fashion for pleating does not seem to wane.

The pleated sport skirt does not seem to go entirely out of favor, and with some of the new jumper frocks which are going to play as important a part in autumn fashions as ever, you will find that the short skirts are either entirely or partly pleated.

One thing is settled so far as the pleated sport skirt is concerned—the pleats must stay in place. If the pleaters had not mastered the difficulty of making pleats that are almost permanent women would have given up the pleated sport skirt several years ago. The pleater knowing this can give the dressmaker excellent advice as to the sorts of material to use in this way. Crepe satins, velvets of all sorts and crepe de chine are especially recommended for the new and rather intricate pleatings, and many of the woolen materials, used for coats are well chosen also.

There is an interesting new type of pleating that shows a sort of accordion pleating running crosswise in deep points. A little French evening frock of rose-colored irpe satin has four tabliers on the skirt, each one of which is pleated in this way to within a few inches of the low-placed girdle. The same sort of pleating is used to decorate the ends of the scarf of the material of which the frock is made.

seems a rather simple thing. Maybe you feel that you could do it yourself if you had the proper machinery or implements.

As a matter of fact, pleating is not easy at all—that is, the sort of pleating that we find on many of the frocks and wraps nowadays, and most of it has to be done by experts, some of whom have spent years and years perfecting their skill in this sort of art or industry. The fashion for pleating surely had brought forward specialists to make new and interesting types of pleating, and these new sorts of pleating have further spread the vogue for pleating. In fact, it is because the professional pleaters continue to give us new and better work that the

WISE AND OTHERWISE

By MARY MARSHALL

YOUR FAVORITE COLOR

THE wise woman closely distinguishes between her favorite color and the color that is most becoming to her. The thoughtless woman wears a color because she likes it. So it is that for some years women in England have considered blue to be Princess Mary's favorite color—just because she wore it so often. Perhaps after all it wasn't her favorite color. But it undoubtedly is and always has been immensely becoming to this blue-eyed, clear-skinned young woman.

Now they say Princess Mary has become downright tired of blue—perhaps not of blue but of being spoken of always as dressed in her favorite color, blue. She doesn't want people to think of her always in terms of one color, and so, they say, she is wearing other colors, finding light brown and certain shades of rose quite becoming.

Some women hit upon a certain color which they find becoming and forget that with changing years it may cease to be so becoming. Some women come to the conclusion in youth that they cannot wear a certain color, and so they never wear it, though with maturity it might be quite becoming. Some women who cannot wear black or white to good advantage when they are young and very slender, appear very well in these colors when a few more years and a few more pounds are added to their credit.

It sometimes happens that a woman wears one color as a matter of economy. If she gets everything navy blue she finds that she never has any difficulty in having things butter. Mix thoroughly and bake in a flat baking dish well greased.

French Vegetable Salad: Two apples, one small onion, 1-2 cucumber, six very small new potatoes, one head lettuce, two cups of drained canned green peas. Scrape and boil the potatoes; peel and mince the apples and onion. Skin, and very thingy the lettuce. When the potatoes are quite cold, mix together in a salad bowl with one teaspoonful of sugar, and a little pepper, and half a cup of cream; serve at once.

Veal Savory: Cook a half cup of soft bread crumbs with the same amount of milk to form a paste. Add this to two and a half cups of left over veal put through the meat grinder, adding two tablespoons lemon juice, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon tomato catsup, a dash of pepper and a tablespoon of minced green pepper if you like. Form into balls. Roll in flour and fry in a frying pan, till light brown. Now make a gravy by pouring a little stock into fat left in frying pan and thickening slightly with flour. Put veal balls in casserole and cover with the gravy and cook for a half hour. Serve on toast with the gravy poured over. If you have gravy left over from the day before this will answer the purpose. Stock may be made by simmering up the bones and scraps of the roast after good meat has been removed.

SYNOPSIS

It is Bob Manning's twenty-first birthday. In the morning he has gone to his parents' bedroom and received the congratulations of father and mother while the former arranged his necktie. While he is there he hears a long drawn "oo hee" and rushes out to be greeted by Marjorie Patterson, their neighbor's daughter. She is at the top of a ladder against the wall separating the two properties and Bob climbs up a ladder on the Manning side.

"Bob—it's your birthday, isn't it?" she demanded eagerly.
"He conceded the fact, but guardedly, as if suspicious of the use to which she would put the information."

"I've a birthday present for you." Curiosity seemed at last to have awakened a real interest within him. Yet, he looked into those beautiful eyes and regarded the palpitating eagerness with which she concealed her hands behind her and indicated that he must choose, with calmness, yes, with disapproval.

"Oh what's the good of that,—you are going to give it to me anyway, aren't you?"

"But it's more fun guessing," she pleaded with a look which might have bewitched a saint.

"Oh, well," he conceded, but when he had chosen both hands in succession and evoked nothing better than a tantalizing giggle, he grew suspicious. "You're switching,—that's what you're doing." Caught red handed in her vil-

"Good news—the best of news," he cried.

lainy, she finally produced a package and handed it to him.
Sure of it now, he inspected the dainty parcel with the tormenting slowness of one who delights in prolonging anticipation.

"Hurry," she urged. And when he failed to act, in her eagerness reached forth and snapped the string, to draw forth a long, crocheted bag which she dangled before his eyes with pride.

"What is it?" he demanded wonderingly.

"That's for your golf clubs,—I crocheted it myself."

"Golf clubs?" Surely Bob's heart was of adamant for he burst into laughter.

"You don't like it?"

Ah, there was a tender spot in Bob's breast. Touched by her hurt tones and the disappointment in her eyes, his mirth died.

"It's all right."

"You are sure you really like it?" she persisted, half convinced.

"Certainly, it's splendid."

"Well then," said Marjorie boldly but struck with something like a blush. "Seeing it's your birthday, I suppose you can kiss me."

"Kiss you?" Here was surprise when there should have been eagerness. Furthermore the alacrity with which a fond lover should have grasped the opportunity to taste the savor of so sweet a maiden's lips was strangely absent. As she closed her eyes and waited on the ladder with puckered lips, he sat motionless gazing at them as if held in the clutches of a spell.

"Yes,—come on," and to give even greater expression to her desires, she leaned towards him until the ladder shifted ominously.

For an instant longer he hesitated, still staring as if spellbound at those rosy lips so temptingly presented for his enjoyment, then, as if drawn by their witchery, he too, leaned slowly forward. So slowly indeed, that Marjorie felt it incumbent upon her to expedite matters by advancing even further.

Alas, ladders are very tricky contraptions and this one was no better than its kindred. It shifted, slid and finally just as Bob was upon the point of sampling the rich fruit before him, it toppled down with it, carrying Marjorie down with it. From his safe vantage point on the wall, Bob looked down at the shaken figure below.

"Are you hurt, Marjorie?"

She gazed up and in her eyes were surprise and ruffled dignity, yes, and perhaps disappointment.

"Don't you laugh,—don't you dare laugh, Bob Manning!"

"I'm not laughing," he protested promptly, and then his eyes strayed homewards. "But I'd better be thinking about getting back—back to breakfast if you are all right. It must be breakfast time." And Bob disappeared behind the wall.

It was breakfast time, Eileen, having instructed the maid to serve the meal, had paused to give a deft touch to the flowers on the table and to glance about the breakfast room to see that all was in order.

It was a beautiful room with a lovely view of rolling country where the great windows gave upon the terrace and formed a setting in perfect keeping with Eileen's mood this morning. In her happiness lurked no cloud or shadow as her husband, carrying a newspaper, entered.

"Good news—the best of news," he cried with an air of great satisfaction.

She glanced quickly at him.

"About the election?"

John nodded.

"A careful poll of ten districts indicates an overwhelming sentiment in favor of my re-election. Of course, the Star has supported me from the first, but it is a conservative sheet. What's more, its estimate of the situation supports my own. It seems to me that I am to have little real opposition. But," his face sobered, "you never can count on anything in such matters until the actual returns are in. Now that I'm in the race, I want to win, not so much for the office as to get a confirmation of my policies from the people."

She regarded him with undiminished pride. Perfectly groomed, he was now the picture of a successful man. A strong, forceful man, with character written in every line of his face.

"Of course, you will win, John," she told him confidently.

"Where's Bob," he demanded, becoming aware of his son's vacant chair, "has that infant vampire still got him in her clutches?"

"Clutches," retorted Eileen severely. "I suspect she is not detaching him from his breakfast against his will. She must appeal to him as quite agreeable to make him miss an opportunity to eat."

"Well, he told me last night that he wanted to go into town with me this morning. Regardless of the allurements of his charmer," he better hurry. I am due in court at nine o'clock."

"Mr. Bledsoe, to see you, sir," interrupted the maid.

Surprised, a shadow clouded John's face as he glanced at the proffered card.

"Isn't his son's trial this morning?" asked Eileen, quickly.

He nodded and turned to the girl with decision.

"Tell Mr. Bledsoe, I am very sorry but I cannot see him."

Eileen viewed him with surprise and stopped the maid with a gesture before she reached the door.

"Oh John, you can't mean that—hadn't you better see him?" she pleaded.

He shook his head, firm in his course.

"There is not the slightest reason why I should see him, Eileen, and many why I should not. The interview would not only be unpleasant but a waste of his time as well as mine."

Filled with sympathy, Eileen rested her hand upon his sleeve.

"Poor man—please see him, John, there might be something—or at least it would be more courteous than to refuse him out right."

"Courteous," a smile softened the determination in his face.

"I'm afraid the law is not always courteous, dear." Then, as he looked down at her, "However, if you wish it—" to go with each other. Her frock always goes with her hat and her coat always goes with either—because they are of navy blue. And it is usually a good plan to settle upon some shade for the wardrobe of a season, so that various accessories and adjuncts of the wardrobe will be wearable with various frocks. That is if you have a navy blue suit it is sometimes a good idea to have a navy blue afternoon frock and a washable silk frock that shows a stripe of navy blue.

But don't go through life always wearing one color. There is really a vitalizing effect in the wearing of different colors. It stimulates, as just as does variety in the diet.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN NEW FORD CARS HERE

That the new Ford models are occasioning a great deal of interest is indicated by the hundreds of persons that have visited the salesrooms of the Thomas Motor company at Macdonald and Thirteenth street, this week.

The curiosity over the new models is the result of the radical changes announced in the Ford. Changed lines and mechanical construction are easily seen in the new Ford.

As people become more familiar with the attractiveness of the improved Ford cars interest not only increases, but orders for cars grow large numbers, according to sales.

Probably the best evidence of the widespread interest manifest in these cars comes from the general offices of the Ford-Motor company at Detroit, where it was stated that since the improved cars were announced orders for more than 190,000 have been booked by dealers throughout the United States. Orders are coming in by the thousands every day.

This is not only a striking example of public confidence in the company's products, but is also a sales record without precedent.

Added significance is given the sales report by the fact that the public generally has not yet had an opportunity to inspect all of the improved types. Distribution of cars among dealers so far has been limited principally to touring cars. In fact, dealers in many sections are still awaiting their first car. In spite of this, orders continue to come in from all points, not only for cars of the type shown, but the rest of the open and closed line as well, an indication that prospective customers are impressed with the soundness of the redesigning and refining of the cars and are satisfied that they will find the same standard reflected in the type of their preference.

Chevrolet Leads In Sales for The Month of August

The Chevrolet has the distinction of leading all makes of automobiles in the state of California for August, in the number of sales. The nearest competitor was the Ford which sales amounted to 3060. Chevrolet sales were 3065 beating the Ford car in the entire state. The figures are taken from motor news an official journal and are supposed to be authentic.

This news should be taken seriously by motorists when one considers that the Chevrolet beat all other cars regardless of price.

Monett Motor Co. of Richmond has the honor of winning the silver cup for overselling their quota and leading all Chevrolet dealers of similar size in the entire state.

RICHMOND HAS PICTURE OF TROPIC ISLES

Norma Talmadge shows how a strikingly handsome brunette can be transformed into an olive-complexioned daughter of the tropics in "Love's Redemption," her latest First National attraction which is showing at the Richmond Theatre today.

Miss Talmadge has a difficult part in the role of Ginger, the young girl of Jamaica who is the heroine of the story; but her effective portrayal of the character places it as one of her best screen accomplishments.

It is Ginger's quaint lack of convention and strength of principle that provides the incentive for saving the life of a beach-combing English youth of good antecedents. The story excels in thrills, heart interest and love appeal in which the contrast between the warmth of the West Indies and the frigidity of English social life is strongly drawn.

Miss Talmadge is supported by a strong cast of well-known film players, including Harrison Ford, as leading man; Montague Love, Cooper Cliffe, Ida Waterman, Michael M. Barnes, E. Fernandez and Fraser Coulter.

VERSATILE BILL IS TO BE SHOWN AT CALIFORNIA

Don Smith and Meade Siegler, late features of the Willis West Revue and the Dansuees International, the years greatest dancing aggregation, will divide headline honors of the big five act vaudeville bill which comes to the California theatre today, in conjunction with the screen feature, "Wild, Wild, Susan," starring Babe Daniels.

"Don Smith and Meade Siegler will offer their own fun creation, "Too High." They need no introduction to Richmond audiences as their work is well remembered with the Willis West Revue. They are preparing a number of song surprises for their engagement here and will present a new line of breezy chatter that will keep you in roars of laughter.

Dansuees International, the years greatest dancing aggregation, comprising three beautiful girls and two clever boys will offer many surprises in original dance creations. The many gorgeous costumes and the beautiful scenic effects make this clever offering one of the most beautiful offered in vaudeville this year.

Bob Brown in presenting his act which he calls "Nonsense" is a black-face comedian with a style all his own. He sings, dances and tells stories in a droll manner that is bound to keep you laughing all the time he is on the stage.

Weber and Ferris in "This and That" by Harry W. Gunn, offer something new and novel in the art of ventriloquism. Weber is capably assisted by Miss Florence Ferris who is an accomplished musician.

Ray Edlin the "Unusual Prima Donna" will give you the most novel surprise of the year. You cannot afford to miss it.

"Wild, Wild Susan," a Paramount comedy of laughs and thrills starring Babe Daniels, which will be today's screen feature, is laid against a background of New York City.

Other features on the same program include "In Deep" a Cameo comedy; "Kinograms"; Carl Richard's California Orchestra; Larry Canelo at the mammoth organ.

County Booklets Give An Account Of Advantages

Boosting the agricultural wealth and industrial progress of Contra Costa county, ten thousand booklets have been printed by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Contra Costa county and are now ready for distribution at the Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

The booklets give general data upon the possibilities and advantages of Contra Costa county, and are issued chiefly for the purpose of interesting prospective settlers in the county.

Publication of the booklets was made possible by a contribution of $500 by the county supervisors and an additional $500 by the various chambers of commerce of the county. Richmond's contribution was $150.

MOITOZA IS SHOWING NEW FORD MODELS

M. G. Moitoza, Ford dealer at San Pablo, has invited the public to visit his salesroom and take a look at the new models that are on display. The changes made are the most pronounced in the past eighteen years. If it wasn't for the radiator cap, one would hardly recognize the car.

The body lines of the car have been changed, and the 'streamline' design has been adopted. The body is all steel, it has larger fenders and wider running boards.

The trouble of getting out of the car when you have to take on gasoline, is done away with as the tank is placed under the cowl. There are two doors to the front seat, so that one may enter or leave from either side.

The chassis has been lowered, and much larger brakes have been installed on the rear wheels, as well as larger brake bands on the transmission.

It is simply a wonder car, and the remarkable part of it, is, there has been no increase in prices.

Especially attractive are the coupe and coach. It is impossible to explain all of the many changes in detail, but visit the Moitoza salesroom at San Pablo, and Moitoza will be pleased to point out to you all of the improvements that have been made.

TRANSPARENT GOLD IS NEW FEAT OF SCIENCE: PRESSED THIN AS ATOMS

By O. D. TOLISCHUS
Universal Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 19.—The discovery of progress for the production of leaves of gold, steel and other metals so thin that they are a transparent as glass is announced by Dr. Ray Mueller, of the National Technical Institute at Berlin.

The discovery is considered of the greatest importance to many industries, and especially to the radio, telephone and other sound reproducing industries.

The finer the membrane, the clearer and more natural the reproduced or transmitted sound will be.

The metal leaves produced by Dr. Mueller are less than one millionth of a millimeter thick, or equal to about thirty atomic diameters. This means that they closely approach the final limit of thinness, the size of the individual molecules of which the metal is composed.

Scientists believe the new process will open up a new world of sound which because of its delicacy cannot be heard by the human ear, but which these thin membranes will catch, record, and then make audible to the ear itself.
